Save time, save cost

While the site is being prepared, the Abacus factory will manufacture the bespoke panelised modular units that are required. Project delays and on-site work are minimised and the result is well-designed, permanent buildings with outstanding environmental benefits.

Abacus also offer ABT solutions, which have a light steel structure which is aesthetically pleasing and gives them a permanent feel, while still offering several versatile configurations. The innovative unit is built to SANS 517 (the building standard for light steel frame building in South Africa), and is fire rated.
